

WORDS WITH JQXZ IN VARYING POSITIONS

DARRYL FRANCIS

Mitcham, Surrey, England

Here is a problem which is fairly simple to state, but which involves considerable effort to answer fully, or even nearly fully.

The subject of interest is words of two to fifteen letters in length. For each different word length, the task is to find words which have the letter J appearing in each possible position. This task is then repeated for the letters Q, X and Z. In the lists presented below, the Js (Qs, Xs and Zs) fill up the diagonals in each square of words.

All words have been taken from Webster's Second or Third Editions. In Webster's Second, the word PSEUDOANTIQUE is given in a list of adjectives without definition. If this were a noun, the word PSEUDOANTIQUES could be added to the list.

By going to other dictionaries, it is always possible to add to the lists. For example, the word EJACULATORIUM and its plural, found in The Second Barnhart Dictionary of New English (Harper & Row, 1980), fill two holes.

Can readers fill any of the gaps, or come up with better words? How about expanding the lists to encompass the remaining 22 letters of the alphabet, or at least some of them?
